
CLIFT'S GUIDE

SECOND EDITION

With Charts, Illustrations, and Review Questions for Each Chapter

By RAYMOND E. CLIFT

Former Superintendent of the Cincinnati Police Academy

Law enforcement officers are today facing a tremendous challenge. They are confronted not only with a continuously rising crime rate but, in addition, must cope with an explosive situation involving racial tensions and civil liberties, frequently characterized by massive demonstrations and civil disobedience. Never have the demands of police service been so great. Those in police service must be prepared to meet these demands. There must be the kind of competency to truly do a professional job.

To be effective, the modern police officer must subject himself to the continuing educational program which this volume of 33 complete chapters so efficiently provides.
